Investment Objective & Strategy

The principle objective is to provide growth of capital while minimizing volatility through investment in a combination of equities and income securities, while maintaining an opportunistic outlook for unique investment situations. Using a common sense businesslike approach, our core belief is that return is generated through company earnings, not stock trading; thus turnover is limited.

Emphasis is placed on equities trading at values of under two-thirds of the general market, when looking at their price-to-earnings or price-to-book ratios, that also have annuity stream revenues with lower debt and higher dividends. If the valuations of annuity-based companies are not favourable due to changing economic conditions, the portfolio may invest in equities within sectors trading at discounted valuations to the general market. This approach can result in a portfolio concentrated on fewer sectors of the overall economy. Income is achieved through many avenues: investments in conventional government and corporate bonds, as well as preferred, convertible and broken convertible securities. In addition, the Fund will take advantage of opportunities in higher-yielding equities, securities lending and covered-call writing.
